

I am concerned with the NABs recent attempts to limit satellite radio's choice of programming. Like cable, satellite radio is a subscriber based broadcast and should not be subject to FCC regulations (besides the technical band issues of course). There is no place for censorship or regulation when it comes to programming for any subscriber-based service. Thank you.